Introduction

We are pleased to offer this Directory of Resources and Services to the Greene County community. It is available in print and on our website (www.gccoa.org). We update the online version more often, so it has the most current information.

While we have tried to include most agencies serving Greene County seniors, the options are constantly changing. Please call or email the Council with any questions.

We hope you will find this Directory useful and will suggest it to others. When you need information, this Directory and the Council are here for you.

Karen Puterbaugh, Executive Director, GCCOA

Covid-19 Pandemic

COVID-19 is a continuing situation that affects many aspects of life. Get the latest public health information from:

Please call ahead or check their website to confirm the times a business or agency is open, as this may change.

About The Greene County Council On Aging

We thank the Greene County community for their continued support of the Council, the senior centers, and most importantly, older adults and their caregivers. Most of the Council's revenue comes from the senior services levy. We take this responsibility seriously.

The Council continues to adapt to the changing needs and challenges of seniors and caregivers. We are seeing increased interest in several areas including retirement and Medicare, memory loss and dementia concerns, and fall prevention.

Our Mission and Objectives

Our mission is to promote independence and quality of life for Greene County senior citizens and caregivers through a comprehensive and coordinated system of contact, care, and support.

To achieve this, we:

- Promote care options for senior adults and their caregivers.
- Share information about senior and caregiving issues.
- Offer information, education, and support programs for caregivers.
- Publicize senior adult education and wellness programs offered by area senior centers and the Council.
- Use federal, state, local and charitable funds wisely.
- Embrace diversity in our programs and services.
- Present educational programs about critical health issues.

Our History

The Greene County Council on Aging began in 1979 and became a nonprofit organization in 1981. Original members came together to learn about the services and programs available for seniors, and to find ways to fill the gaps.

1996-1999: The Greene County Commission gave $150,000 to support senior services and the Council. This funding allowed for grants for home-delivered meals, adult day services, transportation, in-home care, and senior centers. The Council's membership continued to address gaps in services.

In 1999, Greene County citizens passed the first Senior Services levy at 0.8 mil. The current 1.4 mil levy, renewed in 2018, generates $5.5 million per year through 2024.

These funds, combined with other income, allow the Council to do its work. We serve more than 1,100 seniors each month, give grant funding to the ten senior centers, and offer education and support programs to seniors, caregivers, and the community.

Our Organization

The nine members of the GCCOA Board of Directors oversee the organization. The Council has thirty-one team members and more than 160 volunteers. If you are interested in Council activities, call us at 937-376-5486, 1-888-795-8600, or email YourFriends@gccoa.org.

Overview of GCCOA Programs and Services

- Service and special grants to senior centers
- Publication of the Directory of Services and Support
- Help to seniors, age 60 and older, to remain at home through the Partners in Care program (PIC).

How To Use This Directory

GCCOA compiled this directory for seniors, their families, and those who help them. Available services often change; this directory is current as of the publication date. The version on our website has the most up-to-date information.

The focus of this directory is Greene County. Resources in our county appear first in each section. Ohio-wide services follow. National organizations are included for those who wish to do more research.

Use the Index to find specific information.

Remember: You can always contact the GCCOA for help. Our phone numbers are at the bottom of every page. Our website contains helpful information.

Just For Seniors

Normal Aging: Lots of things change as we get older – vision, hearing, taste, strength and stamina, memory -- and sometimes we wonder: is this normal or should I worry?

Changes that are NOT normal include regular or frequent short-term memory loss, depression, and acute medical problems. It is important to discuss such change with your primary health care provider, as these changes are rarely caused by age alone. Always advocate for the health care we deserve.

Interdependence: As we age, we often hear talk about the loss of independence. We rely on others for many things. This is fine! While there are tasks we can do on our own, we also need other people and can appreciate being needed by others.

When you find something hard to do or are worried about safety, ask for help. Say “yes” when someone offers to help. Not only will it affect your quality of life — it will be valuable for the helper. Before you “poo-poo” this idea, think how great you feel when you help someone else!

Having Purpose: Regardless of age, physical abilities, and mental status, it is important to have purpose in our lives. We don’t need to be busy every minute of the day, but we need activities to look forward to. It is important to focus on how to use our time and energy. Options include volunteering, part-time work, reading, music, and hobbies.

Having purpose is critical to successful aging, so think about it! The Council can help.

Just For Caregivers

Putting A Plan Together: Many of us will become a caregiver for someone other than our own children. However, very few of us think about it until it happens. You may find yourself caring for your spouse, a parent, a grandchild, or even a close friend or neighbor. The first step is to create a plan. This plan may need to change as the situation changes, but having a starting point is helpful.

- Working with Doctors: If your loved one has health challenges, you will want to build a strong relationship with their medical providers. Find doctors you both are comfortable with. They should be respectful of your loved one and listen to concerns you share.

One tip is to write things down. Record daily patterns related to sleep, eating, and medications or illnesses. Keep a list of prescriptions and over-the-counter medications used. This helps healthcare providers give better care.

- Ensuring Financial and Legal Matters are in Order: Financial and legal matters can be challenging, especially with parents. These topics can be difficult to bring up. However, it is important to talk in advance about insurance (life, health, and long-term care), financial accounts, health care wishes, and advance directives.
- What Your Loved One Can Accept and Really Needs from You: While we want to help, sometimes we may do too much. Unless it is about safety, we need to respect what our loved one can accept from us.

When visiting your older loved one, you may see a messy house, a pile of dirty laundry, or a flowerbed overrun with weeds, but your loved one sees a person they care about and want to spend time with. Keep in mind that when you come in and “do,” they may see it as something they can no longer do for themselves. This can potentially cause more problems than a layer of dust, or weeds in the yard.

Pick your battles. If the issue is safety, choose ruffling feathers and dealing with the anger. Otherwise, sit and listen and provide some companionship. Afterward, you can tell him/her that you want to do at least one thing from a “to do” list the two of you have put together. There may be other creative ways to tackle tasks.

- Available Resources and Asking for Help: You may think you are the best, or only one, able to take care of your loved one. However, you will be a much better caregiver if you let family, friends, and professionals from the community help. What if you can’t take your wife to the doctor? What if you have surgery and can’t help your father do his laundry and clean his house? If you are fortunate, family members and friends can help. If not, consider contacting a local organization for help.

Most people are more comfortable giving help than asking for it. As caregivers, we need to allow others to assist. If someone makes an offer, say yes. Even if you do not need anything now, you may need something later. It is human nature to stop offering to help after being turned down many times, and this could happen just at the time you are ready for help.

- Taking Care of Yourself: Asking for help is one way we can take care of ourselves. It is critical for caregivers to pay attention to their own needs. It is not healthy to be around the same person 24-hours a day. We need time away from our loved ones. Use the time to do things you enjoy and tend to your own health. Get the rest you need, eat balanced meals, exercise, and see your doctor. It may seem selfish, but it is the best thing you can do for yourself and your loved one!

Information and Someone to Talk With

One of the most important services the Council provides to caregivers is compassionate and knowledgeable professionals who can listen, share information, and problem-solve. Calls and e-mails to the Council are confidential. Team members are available to meet with you at a place that works for you. Being able to vent concerns and frustrations and ask questions can make a tremendous difference for caregivers.

The Council sponsors a variety of caregiver support groups. While not for everyone, attending a support group can provide a caregiver with useful information, and a connection to others in similar situations. A newsletter for caregivers, In Care of You, is published monthly. To receive this, contact the Council or sign up on our website.

Educational programs cover issues such as normal aging, legal and financial planning, residential care, Medicare/Medicaid, and more.

The Council has resource materials available on many subjects. In addition, the Council offers respite care for caregivers, either through adult day services or in the home, to give you some deserved time away.

Kinship Caregivers

Kinship is a situation in which someone steps in to raise a child when the parents cannot. The Council supports Kinship caregivers, such as grandparents raising grandchildren. Our Kinship Liaison is dedicated to helping kinship caregivers. Information can be provided about available medical and financial assistance, and where to find answers to legal/custody questions and where to find counseling help.

Kinship services include:

- Supportive contact via home visits, phone calls and/or email
- Referrals to agencies or programs
- A monthly support group, Relatives As Parents (“RAP”)
- A Kinship newsletter
- Educational programs

The program is free, confidential, and there is no age or income limit.

Community-Based Services To Help Seniors Continue To Live At Home

Most of us, regardless of age, prefer to stay in our own home as we age. This is often possible with the right services and support. However, activities we take for granted — basic housecleaning, meal preparation, bathing, driving — may become a challenge over time. Or there may be safety concerns or memory problems that can be addressed with some assistance, equipment or minor home modification.

The following is a list of services available in the community to help seniors continue to live in their own homes.

Assessment And Care Management

Several local organizations can provide an assessment of your situation. This allows a professional to provide you and your family with an objective evaluation of the situation, identify needs, and discuss available options. It is helpful to have an outside view, as we may be too close to see changes in loved ones or ourselves.

Care management, also called case management, which follows an assessment, is particularly helpful when family members live at a distance. Care management provides an ongoing link between the senior, the family, and the formal and informal services in the home. If a problem arises, the care manager is there to troubleshoot and assist with a resolution.

In Greene County appropriate services can be purchased to assist the senior in remaining in their own or family member's home. Typically, these services supplement what the senior and family can provide. A one-page financial screen of income and assets is completed and there may be a co-payment for some services.

Care managers monitor the services provided and maintain contact with the senior. However, remember that the care manager is not able to provide 24-hour care. Also, securing sufficient in-home care can be difficult due to staffing challenges.

Care Coordination Programs

Partners in Care (PIC) / Greene County Council on Aging

937-376-5486 / 1-888-795-8600

Main office: 1195 West Second Street, Xenia, OH 45385

Beavercreek office: 1221 Meadow Bridge Drive Suite C

www.gccoa.org / yourfriends@gccoa.org

Partners in Care (PIC) provides care managers to coordinate care. A social worker or nurse meets the senior and involved family members in the senior's home to discuss the situation and possible need for services. If services are purchased through PIC for a senior or couple, there may be a co-pay, which is determined by the financial screen. Services may include:

- Home-Delivered Meals
- Homemaking/Light housekeeping & laundry
- Personal Care
- Respite Care
- Adult Day Care
- Emergency Response System
- Medical Transportation
- Grab bar installation

Supportive services are provided through the Council to assist seniors with services such as arranging transportation for medical and other appointments, applying for benefits, obtaining safe/affordable housing, arranging for services, PIC referrals, and providing regular contact with the senior. There are also supportive services workers available through the Fairborn, Xenia and Yellow Springs Senior Centers:

Adult Day Services

Adult day services are provided in a safe, comfortable, and supervised setting, providing seniors a place to go and be with others, as well as to participate in meaningful and structured activities. Benefits include reducing isolation and depression, increasing a sense of purpose, and providing mental stimulation and supervision. Benefits to caregivers include allowing for continued employment, having time to take care of business matters, spending time with friends and family, and stepping away from the caregiving responsibilities for a short time.

Staff members of adult day centers understand the unique needs of seniors, including those with physical disabilities and dementia. Families are encouraged to utilize adult day services at least two days a week in order to create a routine, promote continuity in care, and provide caregivers with enough time to take care of other needs and of themselves.

Area adult day centers differ. In order to find the best fit, families should visit several, ask enough questions to have a solid understanding of the operation of the center, including hours, transportation, meals, medication distribution, activities, therapies, personal assistance with eating, walking and toileting, quiet or rest time, and staffing.

Safety Issues

Safety issues are paramount for seniors and their caregivers. When determining a senior's safety, their home environment, physical ability, and mental status need to be considered. Sometimes a well-intentioned change to a senior's environment or the purchase or acquisition of a piece of furniture or equipment can be a hazard or safety risk to a senior.

When looking at various safety risks, consider the following: driving ability and reflexes, weapons in the home, smoking, tools, appliances, medication, household cleaners, the potential for falls (including physical ability, use of walker or other equipment and environmental factors such as carpet, railings, grab bars, and stairs), wandering potential, and possible abuse or exploitation. Also, consider the safety issues not just for the senior, but also for family members, neighbors, and the general community.

Emergency Response Systems

Emergency response systems (ERS) provide a 24/7 safety net for individuals who live alone and/or are at-risk of falls or medical emergencies. Emergency response systems (ERS) are electronic devices used to notify emergency personnel when emergency assistance is needed. The ERS is installed in an individual's home. The most common product is a base unit attached to the phone, an individual wears either a necklace or bracelet with a call button. If the button is pushed, the individual will receive a call back to make sure everything is okay. If there is no response to the call back or if the individual needs assistance, emergency personnel and the individual's family or listed "responders" are contacted. Some ERS units have GPS capability benefitting those traveling and driving around town. An ERS is not typically a practical service for individuals with dementia.

Several organizations offer emergency response systems. Prices for installation and monitoring services vary, as do the services that are included with the system. When considering different systems, be sure you understand what you are buying and all associated costs. Providers include:

MedicAlert Safe Return Program

Safe Return is an identification program for individuals with dementia, who may be more likely to wander. Applications ask for the name, address and other specific information about the affected person and family members to be contacted if necessary. Completed applications are sent to the Alzheimer's Association for inclusion in a national database. A current picture of the loved one should be included with the one-time start-up fee. After receiving the application, the family will be sent a variety of identification materials (bracelet or necklace, wallet card, clothing tags). There is an annual renewal fee. To learn more contact:

Durable Medical Equipment

Durable Medical Equipment (DME) includes shower chairs, raised toilet seats, walkers, and wheelchairs that make it possible for seniors to remain safely in their home. For Medicare to cover the cost, the providers must be an approved contractor. There are many DME providers throughout the region and online.

If you or a loved one need such equipment, before purchasing, check with the Council or your local senior center. Often, unneeded medical equipment is donated to us or senior centers, and we may have what you need.

Meals On Wheels / Home-Delivered Meals / Nutrition Resources

Home-Delivered Meals (Meals-on-Wheels, Mobile Meals)

Home-delivered meals, also called mobile meals or meals-on-wheels, provide a nutritious meal to an individual's home. Typical reasons include inability to prepare one's own meals, need for a specialized diet, a daily check-in and forgetting to eat. Usually one meal a day is provided; in some cases, two meals a day and/or weekend meals may be possible.

Home-delivered meals also provide an extra safety measure, since the driver checks on the individual receiving the meals. When the meal is delivered, if no one answers or something seems out of the ordinary, the driver notifies the meal organization, which then contacts family members and/or other agencies involved with the individual. Home-delivered meals may not be the answer for every situation. For example, if the senior is not eating the meal, it may indicate a problem that needs to be addressed.

Other In-Home Care Services

In-home care services help seniors remain in their own homes, both by providing additional services and allowing for respite care. These services may include homemaker, personal care, and skilled therapies, such as occupational, physical, and speech. For insurance to cover these skilled therapies, a physician must order them for a very specific need. This does not mean, however, that your insurance will approve coverage.

- Homemaking includes housekeeping, shopping, meal preparation and laundry.
- Personal care includes assistance with dressing, bathing, grooming, toileting, and eating. Personal care aides can also provide limited homemaking services.

There are many homecare agencies providing services in Greene County. Contact your local Senior Center or the Council for information.

Paying For In-Home Services

Payment Considerations

- Medicare covers the costs of very limited medical home care. Covered services must be related to a skilled need. Although coverage is limited, always ask about the possibility of Medicare paying for services.
- Long-term care insurance may also be a possible payer. Some policies include home care benefits, including adult day care and respite stays in care facilities.
- Individuals and families may be able to pay privately for services. Depending on the extent of services and the cost, some home care may also be possible.
- Some of the local organizations providing these services receive funds to assist in providing their services; it may be possible that these services can be provided without charge. These funds are limited and are used quickly by those most in need.
- A reverse mortgage is another way to pay for in-home or longer-term care. With this option, homeowners access the equity in their home to pay for needed services, while remaining in their home. The lender is paid back when the senior moves out or dies, regardless if they live beyond receipt of their last payment. A reverse mortgage is something that should be very carefully considered.
- Veterans Services may be able to assist.
- The Greene County Council on Aging receives funds to pay for services enabling seniors to remain in their own or family member's home. Through the Council's Partners in Care

(PIC) program, these funds are available only after the above payment sources have been pursued. Depending on the senior's situation, a co-payment for some services may be required.

The PASSPORT program is a statewide program funded by Medicaid for seniors age 60 and older who need the level of care provided in a nursing home but want to stay in their home. Those who qualify for PASSPORT work with a nurse or social worker to develop a plan of care that customizes services to help them remain at home. Once enrolled, a case manager works with the senior to be sure needs are met, and that the plan of care is adjusted as needs change.

Consumer Marketing / Consumer Issues And Complaints

Older consumers are often the targets of telemarketing. Many of these solicitations may be scams or frauds. The best advice to seniors is to say NO if the telemarketers:

- do not share the name and address of the charity for which they are soliciting
- are paid to solicit
- will not tell you how the charity will spend the money it receives
- want to come to your home
- insist that a donation be given immediately

Home Emergency Supplies

It is a good idea to keep the following supplies on hand for an emergency:

- 3-day supply of bottled water – 1 gallon per person per day
- 3-day supply of nonperishable food – canned goods, cereal, peanut butter, crackers
- Non-electric utensils
- Cell phone, battery-powered radio, flashlight with extra batteries
- First-aid kit
- Sleeping bag and clothes
- Toiletries such as medications, toilet paper, soap, toothbrush
- Cash and important financial and legal documents
- Pet supplies, including extra water

Identity Theft

Your personal information — credit card numbers, bank account numbers, insurance information, Medicare and Social Security numbers — can be used by criminals to purchase goods or services fraudulently. This is illegal based on both Ohio and Federal law. To avoid this situation, keep your information private.

The best way to secure your identity and prevent identity theft is to put a freeze on your credit reports with the three credit reporting agencies. Contact all three agencies to place a freeze on your reports.

In the case of theft or loss of a wallet with financial and personal information, immediately contact the national credit reporting organizations and the Social Security Administration, in addition to your bank and credit card companies.

Long-Term Care

If you or a family member may need long-term care, remember that Medicare does not cover this. This type of care is very expensive. Some people purchase long-term care insurance to help pay the cost. The information below can help you make a more informed decision about this option. See also Residential Care Long-Term on page 99

Long-Term Care Consumer Guide

National Association of Insurance Commissioners

1100 Walnut Street, Suite 1500

Kansas City, MS 64106

www.naic.org

Publishes information about long-term care insurance such as defining long-term care, outlining policy options, who needs long-term care insurance, how various policies work, and other pertinent issues.

Medicaid can be used to pay for nursing home care. Typically, families begin paying privately for nursing home care and if resources are exhausted, they can apply for Medicaid. If there is a spouse living in the community, traditional income and asset eligibility guidelines are not used, so that adequate resources for the spouse are available to remain in the community.

Driving And Transportation

Driving is a key to independence. It gets us to work, to the store, to appointments, and to most any place we want to go. While most of us know how to drive, we may not be able to handle the act of driving, as the mechanics are much different from when we first learned. There are more vehicles, more lights, more lanes, more landmarks, and more distractions.

Many individuals continue to drive but probably or definitely should not. This has little to do with age and more to do with physical and mental limitations. Discussing this within a family can be very difficult. If there is any question about a person's reflexes and reaction time and/or judgment, it may be time to give up driving.

When driving your own car is no longer an option, either for a short time or permanently, some transportation services are available, though they can be tricky to coordinate.

Medical appointments receive priority for most transportation programs. The earlier you contact a provider to arrange for services, the better your chance of receiving it. Since only a few providers can arrange for an escort, if you or your loved one requires more than pick-up and drop-off, transportation services may be even more challenging to coordinate.

In order to accommodate as many as people as possible, pick-up times may be earlier than any individual would prefer, and short waits are common after an appointment. Patience and flexibility are important.

Some in-home care providers offer transportation for appointments and errands. The cost may include an hourly rate charged by the organization and fees for the staff person, as well as mileage expenses.

Paying for transportation services varies, depending on provider, location of appointment and type of transportation needed. Area senior centers with transportation programs receive limited grants to operate their programs. A voluntary donation is appreciated but not required. In some cases, the full cost of the transportation is required. This may be especially high if an ambulette or ambulance is required, and insurance does not cover the cost.

Handicapped Placards

These placards are issued to any person with a disability that limits or impairs the ability to walk. Disability placards may also be issued to a vehicle that is altered to accommodate a disabled individual or to a bus that transports disabled individuals. These placards permit the vehicles to park in spaces marked with the symbol for people with disabilities. In order to get a placard, a physician, chiropractor, or advanced practice nurse must certify the disability.

Applications are available at the Greene County Council on Aging, or the Bureau of Motor Vehicles offices listed below or at their website:

End Of Life Issues

While thinking about and planning for the end of life is difficult, putting your wishes on paper can ease the situation for your loved ones when the time comes. There are important legal documents which spell out what you want done or who will make decisions for you if you become incapacitated. These documents, known as advance directives, include:

- General Durable Power of Attorney: Authorizes an individual to make legal decisions on behalf of another person. It is used only when the individuals cannot make their own decisions because of travel, hospitalization, or incompetence.
- General Durable Power of Attorney for Health Care: Appoints an individual to make all decisions regarding health care, if the person is unable to make them for him/herself.
- Guardianship: A guardian is appointed by the Court, after a petition indicating that the individual is mentally incompetent and not capable of making decisions for him or herself.
- Conservatorship: A conservator is appointed by the Court, at the request of the individual, to take over legal authority, typically for a competent individual with severe physical limitations.
- Living Trust: A trust is typically created to avoid probate and is funded with assets from the individual. It can be amended and revoked by the person creating the trust.
- Living Will: A document outlining an individual's wishes related to the use of artificial life support.
- Do Not Resuscitate Order (DNR): An order prepared by an individual's physician outlining that the patient does not wish to have cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) performed.
- Will: A document providing for the way in which a person's property is distributed upon their death.

Funeral Planning

Just like preparing for any other situation, families need to talk about funeral planning. Doing this in advance can make a painful time easier to bear.

There are as many ways to honor the dead, as there are cultures, religions and budgets. Personal philosophy or faith should guide your choices. Some families choose simple arrangements, such as a cremation without a ceremony, others want more elaborate arrangements, with a wake before a funeral. Some use no coffin at all, others choose a handcrafted hardwood casket. Some choose to keep the body at home for visitation, others decide to hold a viewing at a funeral home. Whatever your choice, base it on what is meaningful to you, not on what you think other people expect.

Explore your options

Most people are confused about what they can and cannot do for burial. Many assume a “traditional” funeral — embalming, fancy casket, open-casket wake, funeral ceremony, procession, and graveside service — is “normal.” In fact, this type of funeral has no roots in Christianity, Judaism, Islam, or any other religion and is rarely practiced outside the US and Canada.

You have the right to a funeral and burial in almost any way that is meaningful to you. Think about the type of arrangement you want. Your options may include:

- Donating your body to a science for research
- Cremation or burial
- Green or traditional earth burial
- Embalming or refrigeration
- Viewing? Public or private? Where?
- Funeral or memorial service? Where? When?

Whatever you decide, write down your wishes in detail. Your choice is the biggest factor in helping you determine the best, and most reasonably priced funeral home for your needs.

Determine a Budget. Shop Around

Picking the funeral home closest to where you live or one you have used in the past, may not be the best way to ensure good service. Prices can vary enormously between funeral homes, even just blocks apart.

Once you have determined what you want and a budget, contact funeral homes. By federal law, they are required to give you price quotes over the phone and a printed, itemized “General Price List” in person. You have the right to purchase only the services you want. For example, you are not required to choose embalming; you can use an alternative container instead of a casket for cremation or provide the funeral home with a casket or urn bought elsewhere without incurring additional fees. You should receive a written statement after you decide what you want, but before you pay for it.

How to Pay? Should You Prepay?

Now that you have decided what you want, determined a reasonable budget, and explored funeral homes, what will it cost and what are your options for payment?

Pay by cash or credit. Most families will use cash, check or credit card to pay for all or part of the funeral expenses. Most funeral homes today expect payment in full up-front. Sometimes you can pay a portion using an installment plan negotiated with the funeral home.

Savings. Some families can set aside money for funeral costs ahead of time. Upon death, however, the funds can be held up for months while a Will is probated. To avoid such delay, you could set up a joint account with a trusted family member with “rights of survivorship.” That person can withdraw the money after your death to pay for your arrangements.

Payable on death account. This special type of bank account ensures that the funds you set aside for your funeral will be released immediately after your death to the beneficiary you name, without the delay of probate. Unlike a joint account, the beneficiary cannot touch the money while you are alive. These accounts are FDIC-insured, and you can withdraw money any time.

Life insurance policy. These policies are to cover the general financial needs of the survivors. They may also provide a lump-sum amount to your designated beneficiaries after your death. Insurance money will be disbursed soon after death, avoiding probate.

Other insurance policies are available specifically to cover funeral costs. Be sure to consider whether these policies will cost more in premiums than they will pay out.

Burial insurance is a life insurance policy intended to cover death-related expenses. In some states, it can be sold by funeral homes.

Pre-need insurance is a whole-life policy covering the pre-determined cost of a funeral and is sold by the funeral provider. In some states, you must name the funeral home as the beneficiary; other states forbid that practice.

Prepaying at Funeral Home with a Trust. When you prepay the cost of your funeral, the funeral director places the money into an interest-bearing trust account and serves as the trustee. After your death, the funds are paid directly to the funeral provider. An irrevocable trust cannot be changed without the permission of the trustee; this is something to think about should you change your mind or move. A revocable trust can be cashed out or cancelled at any time.

Considerations about Prepaying

If you may be Medicaid-eligible in the future, you may want to consider prepaying for a funeral through a Funeral Home Trust, which may be the only alternative to shelter the funds from Medicaid. In other circumstances, there are other issues to consider before prepaying.

You want to be thoughtful about prepaying expenses through a funeral home for several reasons. What if you move or change plans? What if costs increase? What if you have other expenses now? What if your death occurs out of town, can you get a refund? Do your loved ones know of these arrangements?

Veterans Funeral and Burial Benefits

All veterans, their spouses and dependents are entitled to burial in a national cemetery, a headstone and a flag. Families are responsible for costs other than opening and closing the grave, vault or liner, and setting the marker. For more details, contact the local Veterans office or see www.cem.va.gov

Put it all together

Once you have decided what you want, talk to your family about your wishes and what you've learned. If plans go awry, or death occurs away from home, they will need the skills and knowledge you've developed to negotiate the funeral for themselves. Put your plans in writing, but do not put them in a will or a safe deposit box, as they likely will not be seen until long after other arrangements have been made.

Hospice

Talking about the end of life is difficult for most of us, but the best time is before a terminal diagnosis or a serious illness. In addition to funeral and/or memorial services pre-planning, the following topics should be in your discussions and planning:

- Hospice Care
- Wishes for Treatment
- Bereavement Support

No matter how prepared we think we are it is never easy to lose a loved one. Allow yourself the time and room to grieve. Especially for those who shared their life with someone for decades, no one else can ever totally understand your loss and what you need to get through the days that follow.

Do not allow the grief to consume you. Recognize what you are feeling and seek out support from others if you have difficulty moving forward with your loved one in your heart and memory.

Hospice is a philosophy of providing comfort-centered care at the end of life. It is for the family and the person facing a terminal illness that cannot respond to curative treatments. Several hospice organizations provide services and care to Greene County families. As you explore them, look for one that you are most comfortable with, that works with your insurance and other financial constraints, and can provide the types of services and support that fit your situation.

Medicare only covers your hospice care if the hospice provider is Medicare-approved. If you're in a Medicare Advantage Plan (like an HMO or PPO) and want to start hospice care, ask your plan to help find a hospice provider in your area.

Insurance

Life Insurance

People purchase life insurance for many different reasons, some to cover or help with funeral and burial expenses, while others purchase it as a long-term investment. There are two basic types of life insurance: term and cash-value. When talking about life insurance with a broker or agent, be sure you know what type is being discussed. If you later apply for Medicaid, the cash value of life insurance will be considered.

Long-Term Care Insurance

Long-term care insurance can help pay expenses both at home and in a long-term facility where Medicare will not cover many of these charges. There are many different plans available. If you are interested in this type of insurance, be sure to contact a reputable agent that can explain all options and expenses involved.

Ohio Department of Insurance

Website provides information defining long-term care, outlining policy options, who needs long-term care insurance, how various policies work, and other pertinent issues.

Loans / Predatory Lending

Predatory lending involves the practice of charging excessive fees, high interest rates, high front-end insurance premiums, hidden costs, balloon payments, prepayment penalties and coercive hard-sell, high-pressure sales tactics to individuals attempting to borrow money to buy a home or acquire an equity home loan, or pay-day loans. Typically, predatory lending targets seniors, low-income, and minority individuals. Before signing up for a loan, check with a reputable organization to review your situation. The Greene County Council on Aging, your local senior center, the Greene and Clark County Fair Housing office, or the Attorney General's office, may be helpful resources.

Medicare Financial Assistance Programs

There are several programs available to assist eligible lower income seniors paying for Medicare.

Extra Help with Medicare Part D

This program helps seniors with limited income pay for prescription drugs. The Council can discuss eligibility and the application process, which is through the Social Security Office.

Medicare Savings Programs

These programs help pay some of the Medicare costs for beneficiaries with limited income. The Council can discuss eligibility and the application process, which is through the Greene County Office of Job and Family Services.

Qualified Medicare Beneficiary (QMB)

The QMB program pays the Medicare Part B monthly premium and deductibles. It also acts like a free Medicare supplemental plan for eligible Medicare beneficiaries. Eligibility is based on income and asset levels, which are higher than for Medicaid eligibility.

Specified Low Income Medicare Beneficiary (SLMB)

The SLMB program pays the Medicare Part B monthly premium for eligible Medicare beneficiaries. Eligibility is based on income and asset levels, which are higher than for QMB eligibility.

Qualified Individual (QI)

The QI program pays some of the Medicare Part B monthly premium for eligible Medicare beneficiaries. Eligibility is based on income and asset levels, which are higher than for both Medicaid and QMB eligibility.

Health Insurance / Medicare / Medicaid

Medicare

Medicare is a federal health insurance program for individuals age 65 and older, and those with disabilities. The ins and outs of the program are confusing. Council has staff trained to help seniors understand their options and select the Medicare plans best suited to their individual situation. Information is available about all parts of Medicare.

- Medicare Part A: hospitalization, home health, and skilled nursing home benefits
- Medicare Part B: physician expenses, diagnostic testing, outpatient care, medical equipment
- Medicare Part D: drug plans
- Medicare Advantage Plan: sometimes called Part C
- Medicare Supplemental Insurance: sometimes called Medigap or MedSup

Medicare Eligibility and Application

Individuals age 65 and older and who qualify for Social Security benefits are eligible for Medicare Parts A and B. For most individuals, part A is free. Part B provides coverage for 80% of the cost for medical expenses. There is a monthly premium for Part B, which is usually deducted from a beneficiary's Social Security payment. Part D helps cover prescription drugs. An individual must sign up for a Part D plan or have other drug coverage to avoid a penalty. The cost of plans varies. Some lower income seniors may qualify for Extra Help to pay their Part D.

Application for Medicare is made through Social Security. If you are already receiving Social Security benefits, your Medicare enrollment should be automatic. If not, you should contact the local Social Security office. A penalty may be added to your Part B premium if you do not sign up within your open enrollment period, the 7-month period beginning three months before you turn 65 and ending three months after your birthday.

We encourage future beneficiaries and their caregivers to learn about the Medicare program and enrollment process well before it is time to enroll.

Health-Related Issues / Organizations

Alzheimer's Disease And Dementia

Dementia includes many different diseases, of which Alzheimer's is the most prevalent. Dementia is a collection of symptoms associated with the loss of intellectual capacity. The symptoms can interfere with an individual's daily functioning. Areas that are impaired include memory, abstract thinking, and judgment. Other types of dementia include Lewy Body disease, vascular or multi-infarct dementia (stroke), Pick's disease, Huntington's disease, alcohol-related dementia, and depression. The GCCOA offers a Memory Loss workshop. Call us for details.

Dementia, including Alzheimer's, is not a normal part of aging. A medical assessment can determine if dementia is present, the type, and potential treatments and care available. This assessment should include an overall medical examination, blood work, a thorough review of medical, social, and psychological history, and a neurological examination. After such an assessment a plan of care can be developed.

Arthritis / Osteoarthritis / Osteoporosis

Arthritis is an umbrella term referring to over 100 different rheumatic diseases, including Fibromyalgia, Lupus, and Osteoporosis. Arthritis is an inflammation of the joints, which can cause pain and loss of function, affecting movements vital for everyday activities. Most types of arthritis are chronic, meaning they can last for a lifetime.

Osteoarthritis, common in older adults, occurs when cartilage covering the ends of bones in the joint is damaged and wearing away. Osteoarthritis is most often found in hips, knees, and hands.

With Osteoporosis, bones become fragile and more likely to break. Osteoporosis can progress painlessly until a bone breaks. These fractures, most commonly occur in the hip, spine, and wrist.

Blood Pressure — Hypertension

Hypertension is the term for individuals whose blood pressure is 130/80 or higher. By comparison, a healthy adult's blood pressure is less than 120/80. The first number is the systolic pressure or the pressure in the arteries when blood is being pumped. The second number is the diastolic pressure, the pressure in the arteries when the heart rests between beats. Uncontrolled hypertension can lead to heart disease, stroke, or kidney failure.

Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Hypertension

cdc.gov/bloodpressure/facts.htm

Your physician should address concerns about blood pressure. Blood pressure can often be checked at local grocery stores, some pharmacies, and area senior centers that have self-serve machines. ## Depression / Mental Health / Substance Abuse

Depression is a commonly misdiagnosed condition in the older population. It is seen in older adults who experience multiple losses, including retirement, death of spouse/child/friend, and physical changes due to illness. In many cases the depression is treatable, so it is a good idea to talk with your doctor if you are feeling low. If depression is undetected, the person may exhibit symptoms of dementia. Aging may exacerbate mental health issues in an individual. Alcohol or drug abuse may also compound the situation.

Diabetes

Diabetes occurs when the body does not produce insulin properly. There are two types:

- Type 1 is relatively rare, affecting 5%-10% of those with diabetes. It usually appears suddenly in children and young adults and progresses rapidly.
- Type 2 diabetes is the more common condition, occurring most often in overweight and inactive adults, and develops over several years. Your primary care physician can monitor the warning signs and symptoms of Type 2 diabetes. There may be less chance of diabetes developing if these are addressed.

Hearing Loss

Hearing loss is one of the most common medical conditions in older adult. According to the National Institute on Deafness and Other Communication Disorders, hearing loss occurs in one in three people older than 60 and half of those older than 85. Hearing loss, which is linked to heredity, disease, trauma, long-term exposure to damaging noise, or medications, may influence an individual's ability to communicate and function in the same way they previously did.

For some people, hearing aids may improve hearing. The cost of hearing aids is high, and Medicare does not cover that cost. Check with your insurance to see what is available.

Housing

The Housing Options listed in this section are apartments and other congregate housing complexes that are rented exclusively or primarily by senior citizens. Each unit is different, and seniors and their families are encouraged to contact as many as possible and find the best option for their situation. In addition to rent and utilities, consideration should be given to medical and social service needs, grocery and other consumer-related needs, and access to social, recreational and cultural activities of interest. Although rental costs vary depending on location and owner, monthly rent for subsidized housing typically is 30% of an individual or couple's income. Find out what the rent includes and if there are additional one-time or monthly charges.

Types of Senior Housing

Senior housing has many levels of care, and each facility may offer different levels at the same or a different location. A continuing care or life care facility offers several levels of care in one location. Different facilities could have different definitions. A brief overview:

Independent Living -- Does not provide medical care or nursing support. The focus is instead on convenience and an active life.

Assisted Living -- Provides seniors with support when and where they need it. There is often help available 24/7 with the simple push of a button, and seniors can get help with basic life tasks.

Long-Term Living or Long-Term Care -- Involves a variety of services designed to meet a person's health or personal care needs, provided either at home or in a nursing home.

Memory Care / Dementia Care -- Caters specifically to those with Alzheimer's and other types of dementia through dementia-friendly activities and staff trained in the psychological and physical effects of cognitive impairments.

Nursing Home or Skilled Nursing -- Provides a wide range of health and personal care services, focusing on medical care more than most assisted living facilities.

Rehabilitation -- Care for patients who have experienced a debilitating illness (e.g: stroke), injury or major surgery, generally temporary.

Respite Care -- Temporary institutional care of a sick, elderly, or disabled person, providing relief for their usual caregiver.

Hospice, Palliative Care -- Palliative care is specialized medical care for people living with a serious illness, such as cancer or heart failure. Hospice care focuses on the care, comfort, and quality of life of a person with a serious illness who is approaching the end of life. Both types of care can be provided at home or in a facility such as nursing home.

Residential Care Long-Term

When exploring options for residential care, it is important to understand the range of services and cost. Assisted living allows individuals to live independently while having services available as needed. Be sure you understand what is included in the cost. Be realistic about your needs. Ask yourself whether a move to a nursing home might be necessary at some point.

In choosing any residential care facility, gather as much information as you can. Talk to staff, family members of residents, and professionals from the Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program. The style of the wallpaper and carpet are less important than how staff members interact with the residents, family members, and each other. Keep in mind you are buying care, not just a room.

Senior Centers / Support Groups

Greene County senior centers play a critical role in the lives of older adults. They provide individuals with information, as well as regular activity of all types — fitness, recreation, education, and socialization. Many centers also offer services, such as transportation, outreach, friendly visiting, congregate meals and home-delivered meals.

You can participate in as little or as much as you would like as a senior center member. If there is an activity or program you would like to see a center offer, let them know. The staff and volunteers are always looking for ideas!

Please contact the senior center for hours they are open and activities offered.

Volunteer Opportunities

Having a sense of purpose is important to successful aging. If your purpose includes sharing your time and talents, contact the Council. Our Community Liaison can help you identify the interests and talents you would like to share. Connections to volunteer opportunities can be made.

Many Greene County organizations and programs rely on qualified and committed volunteers to achieve their goals. Area churches and senior centers, hospitals, Long-Term Care Ombudsman Program, Family Violence Prevention Center, Community Action Partnership, and local schools are continually seeking volunteers. The opportunities are endless. Some individuals seek a regular daily or weekly commitment. For others, a one-time or periodic volunteer experience is more appropriate. Whatever your schedule and preferences, please consider sharing your time and talents and help make Greene County an even better place to grow older.

How to find a Volunteer Opportunity

Contact a nonprofit, charity, faith-based organization or community organization whose work appeals to you and ask about volunteer opportunities. Their website may have information or a form.

There are many websites with national as well as local opportunities. Here are just a few:

AmeriCorps.gov

Volunteer.gov

VolunteerMatch.org

fcsserves.org

JustServe.org

serve.ohio.gov/Volunteering

Whether you are a senior or an individual who would like to share your time to help a local organization, we encourage you to contact the Council (937-376-5486, 1-888-795-8600 or yourfriends@gccoa.org) about ways we can help you find added purpose to your life.

Wellness

We can have control over much of our own health and well-being, including taking good care of our physical bodies, having a positive attitude, maintaining a sense of humor, fostering existing and finding new social relationships, allowing for our own self-defined spirituality, and keeping our minds active. These are the keys to wellness and successful aging. Check with the Council, or your local senior center, for information on wellness activities. Also check out:

Check-In Calls

A senior daily check-in service calls a senior every day at a certain time. If the senior does not answer after several tries, the service notifies the designated caregivers. The Ohio Department of Aging has such a service, which uses an automated system. For more information and to sign up:

aging.ohio.gov/care-and-living/get-help/staying-connected

The Council has a Care Call Program which can reduce isolation and feelings of loneliness among seniors. We call once a week, during our normal business hours, for a brief chat. Please contact the Council for more information or to sign up.

Recreation & Fitness

From bike paths to yoga classes, recreational opportunities abound in Greene County. Check with your local senior center and parks and recreation department for a listing of activities and classes offered. Take advantage of the additional activities offered by the community organizations listed below.

YMCA of Greater Dayton

The Y offers SilverSneakers, Silver & Fit, and Renew Active programs. Each of these programs may allow you to have your membership fees waived as a benefit of your healthcare plan. Your local Y can help you determine your eligibility simply by checking your healthcare card. If your insurance does not include this benefit, the Y offers affordable membership options.
